ELLA BLEAU JEWELLERY

By Paige Mason

The collection of Ella Bleau jewellery is a beautiful display of remarkable elegance and fine craftsmanship. Luckily, the website offers a must-have collection making it easier than choosing from hundreds of designs. Some are available in more than one colour, suiting personal styles. The website also offers a "you might also like" section underneath each particular design, helping direct you to a favourite.

After much deliberation, my personal favourite is the Antique diamond and golden sapphire ring (left) which has beautiful detailing of simulated diamonds around a squared shaped golden sapphire. This ring is an eye catcher, absolutely stunning!

Another striking design is the lights of Paris (pictured), which comes in pink, blue or clear. This ring is described as a representation of young love. It has a single row of pink diamond simulants, surrounded by thin lines of sterling silver and rows of clear round stones sparkling on each side. This is a classic design that still manages to stand out.

My final preference is the inspired Kate Hudson ring which is motivated by the engagement ring she received from Chris Robinson. The design features an Ascher cut simulated diamond centre surrounded by smaller diamonds with more down the sides. It is a gorgeous creation with fine detail, truly divine.

These are just three of nine items on the must have list, all priced under $100, so if you can't choose a favourite be careful you might be tempted for more.

What I love about the site is the ease of access. Everything is just a mouse click away making so much easier to decide. Before you do anything else go to www.ellableaujewellery.com.au and check out their must haves.
