Joana Calado, 29, creative director

While studying criminology, Joana retained her passion for jewellery. Her travels around the world gave her an insight into fashion and trends. When she discovered high quality diamond simulants made an excellent alternative to the real thing, she developed a web site to sell convenient and affordable jewellery.

I love classic, simple styling. I try to fuse old and new, classic and modern. This season to me is all about savouring vintage silk, tulle and lace teamed with luxe jewels for ultimate glamour. I like glimmer and, as always, less can often be so much more.
